Mediator Style & Process Preferences

I am a quick study of complex legal and factual issues and use a facilitative and evaluative approach to help parties objectively assess the strengths and weaknesses of their cases and determine the best path to resolving their disputes. I approach each case with an open mind and work to connect with the parties and understand the perspectives of all sides. I arrive to each mediation fully prepared and prefer to visit separately with attorneys in advance of mediation to learn about the particular dynamics of each case.
